IT IS FOR LIFE OR DEATH

A VERY STRAINED CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN IRELAND.

The Parliamentary Party and the Local Candidates—Fears of an Uprising if the Landlords do Not Relent—Union of the Bulgarians—Foreign.

GALWAY, Oct. 24.—A reporter has been traveling for the last few days through different section of Connaught, and visited an ex-member of parliament who re-ired some years ago. He is a man who is noted for his keen observation and for the wise and far-seeing counsels he offered in the past. Saying that he did not wish to be personally quoted, because he had been so long removed from political activity, he gave his views on the present situation in Ireland, which is summarized.

Irish politics just now, said he, make a curious study if judged by outside appearances. All seems smooth and united, and to the onlooker is presented the swift, strong and deep current of Nationalist progress But there are concealed undercurrents, however, which he does not perceive. In many of the local districts there exists a sullen feeling of resentment against the Nationalist caucus machine, which is worked by a group of members principally resident in Dublin, where political power naturally concentrates. The visible result of this feeling is the enormous development in the number of local candidates which has created an unlooked-for difficulty. It is impossible to find places for one-fifth of the aspirants to parliamentary honors, and as each man thinks his own case entitled to favorable consideration, each nomination creates a group of "sore heads," who may give considerable trouble before the elections come to an end. In some of the western counties the feeling against this Dublin group is so strong that there seems to be a likelihood of revolt. This mutinous spirit is not, however, directed against Mr. Parnell, but almost wholly against a few of his active lieutenants. So far, however, the conventions have been models of order and discipline, public opinion having reduced the mutineers either to absolute silence or impotence.

Connaught all through has been agitating, and for the past five years has maintained a sturdy independence through having given effective support to the parliamentary party. This is in part due to the widespread influence of the Fenian organization and partly to the fact that the Nationalists in this province are largely recruited from the small farmers, who are less amenable to the control of the priests than the wealthier farmers are in the other provinces. The union between the parliamentary party and the clergy will not therefore exercise so potent an influence in Connaught as in the other provinces, but it will remain an important element of control.

Any undue development of local representation must have a lowering affect on the intellectual and educational standard of the Irish representatives, with the result of diminishing their moral influence in the house of commons. Mr. Parnell hopes, by consulting as far as possible the local feeling, to be able to recruit his party from the best available material. Many scions of families who bore prominent parts in the past nationals movements are abandoning the position of reserve they have hitherto maintained toward the Parnellite movement and are offering themselves as candidates for parliamentary honors under the leadership of Mr. Parnell. Some also are anxious that the Conservative element of the population should take an active part in politics in order to act as a check upon the revolutionary element in the Irish movement.

The advanced Nationalists of Limerick are determined to establish a branch of the National league under the title of "Smith O'Brien." This shows that the Fenian leaders have at length resolved to accept accomplished facts and to exchange the attitude of semi-hostility which many of them have maintained during the past five years for an active participation in the Parnellite movement. The real weakness of the Land league movement was this attitude of reserve and almost hostility adopted by many important Fenian leaders, which completely paralysed the popular power of resistance when the crisis came. If the action of the advanced Nationalists of Limerick may be taken as an indication of a general policy to be acted on all over Ireland the faudlords will do well to pause before attempting to carry out this winter their threats of eviction against the people en masse.

The Fenian body is popularly supposed to posses a considerable supply of arms, and in cases where a resistance to evictions is organised the evictors may be certain of a warm reception. Though little is said in public there is evidently a very determined feeling among the people not to allow themselves to be driven from their homes without resistance, and should the landlords be unwise enough to attempt to collect rents which the people are not able to pay, this winter will not pass without serious bloodshed. One thing is certain, the Irish peasant will fight desperately to preserve his cabin and field. In the present state of the popular mind one shot fired in resistance might call the whole country to arms. The failure of the English army in the Soudan has created in the minds of the Irish people a feeling of contempt for the military power of England. In some districts the idea of resistance has taken such deep root that the people openly indicate their choice of military leaders. Under these conditions it requires careful statesmanship on the part of the government and of the popular leaders to avoid a conflict which might have serious results. Both the government and the Parnellites seem to recognize the necessity of prudence.

The danger at present really comes from the menacing attitude of the landlord. Part of the Conservative government is known to be using its influence to bring the landlord party to a reasonable view of the situation, but up to the present without much success, if popular rumor can be relied upon. The question between the landlords and tenants can be summed up thus: The heavy fall in the price of all classes of agricultural produce has left the tenants without sufficient money to pay in full even the reduced judicial rents. If they pay in full they must starve, as they did in '46 and '47. The National leaders will not counsel them to pay; nor will they counsel them not to pay, as the feeling of responsibility is too heavy in either case. The landlords say they must be paid the full judicial rents at all hazards.

It is, therefore, a question of life or death. The tenants, if driven to bay, must choose between death from starvation and armed resistance to the rent collector. The tenants cannot surrender, therefore, and unless the landlords except their terms there must be a conflict. How far public opinion in England will permit the armed forces of the empire to be used in support of the landlords remains to be seen, but it is to be hoped that it is sufficiently potent to compel the landlords to adopt a policy of conciliation and peace. Otherwise this winter may be marked by something like civil war.

Turkey and Bulgaria.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—At last the sultan's favorite policy of peace if possible seems likely to bring some advantage to Turkey. The delayed action on her part has been fast wearing away Bulgarian patriotism, owing to the great strain it caused upon the resources of the people. Both sultan and prince will now gladly accept any solution with the powers may advise, and therefore a peaceful issue to the present crisis is considered here as certain. Nevertheless the concentration of Turkish troops continues. A large Austrian steamer left Sinop laden with troops.

As explained, however, in former telegrams, neither Prince Alexander nor the sultan ever meant fighting, the Turkish war preparations being intended to overawe the Balkan states into accepting any solution the powers might sanction. The bluster on both sides was only made to save their prestige with their people. The basis of agreement already arranged between Prince Alexander and the sultan only requires Austria's sanction.

The powers trim the salient points down to a definite settlement by permitting an arrangement of personal union between Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia, the separate administration paying tribute in both states. This will prevent troubles in Greece and Servia, as technically restoring the status quo ante. The Berlin treaty contains no prohibition against placing the government of Eastern Roumelia as nominally a separate state, in the same hands that hold the reins of power in Bulgaria, as nominally another separate state. Thus Turkey will lose nothing from her former position and will gain a settlement of the tribute difficulty, while the Bulgarians will procable obtain a customs union and other modifications of certain organic states.

Sir Henry Drummond Wolff's "little game" has been successful, although the commissioners of the Anglo-Turkish Egyptian convention have not yet been appointed. This is due to the efforts made to fix the sultan's choice on some particular individuals. The enemies of Said Pacha, the ex-president of the council of state, have been trying to obtain for him a place on the commission, fearing his continued presence here. The choice, however, seems to lie between Hassan Fehmi Pacha, ex-minister of justice and Moukhtar Darvish. Sir Henry will be received at the palace, leaving for Egypt immediately after the audience.

That Royal Wedding.

EU, France, Oct. 24.—The marriage of Prince Waldemar, fourth son of King Christian of Denmark, and Princess Marie, daughter of the Duc and Duchesse de Charles, was celebrated at the Chateau d'Eu, the residence of the Comte de Paris. The civil ceremony was performed in Paris by the mayor and the religious services were conducted here in the private chapel of the chateau.

Among those present were the Queen of Denmark, the Crown Prince and Princess of Denmark, the Prince and Princess of Wales and their three daughters, Prince D'Joinville, the Duc D'Aumale, Duc Decazes, Duc and Duchesse De Chartres and Count Von Dahn Herfield, the Danish minister.

The handsome park and extensive gardens surrounding the chateau were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and Chinese lanterns. The tower was profusely decorated with flags and bunting, and many private houses were also illuminated in honor of the event. At the wedding breakfast the Prince of Wales proposed a toast to the health of the bride and bridegroom. The later subsequently departed for Chantilly.

The wedding register was signed by thirty-nine princes, including the Prince of Wales, the Grand Duke Alexis and the Count of Flanders. The bride wore a dress of white satin with a pearl embroidered bodice. Her veil was of Chantilly lace.

Editor Stead on Trial.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The trial of Editor Stead, of the Pall Mall Gazette, and the other defendants in the Eliza Armstrong case was commenced at the Central Criminal Court, Bailey, before Justice Lopes, and will probably last a week. All the prisoners plead not guilty, and the attorney general opened the case for the crown. After a brief review of the case the taking of the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution was proceeded with. The testimony thus far adduced does not differ materially from that given at the parliamentary hearings.

The girl Eliza Armstrong, when called to the stand, was cool and self possessed and gave her evidence in a clear and straightforward manner. The judge in ruling on a question said that no motives were sufficient to justify the taking of the child without the parents consent. "If consent was obtained by fraudulent means," he continued, "it was tantamount to no consent in the eyes of the law." The room was crowded and a large number had gathered around the entrances, but these were soon cautered by a drenching rainstorm that prevailed.

$500 and Costs.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 24.—The suit of Dr. W. A. Davis, of Third and Cooper streets, for $10,000 damages against the Courier Publishing association was continued in the supreme court by counsel arguing the case and Judge Parker rendering a most important charge to the jury, which immediately retired and soon returned with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500 and costs.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

MARSHAL M'MICHAEL GIVES UP HIS OFFICE TO MR. FARNSWORTH.

A Rainy Day at the White House—Turf Men and Brides Call on the President.

An Old Abandoned Custom Revived—Personal and National.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Marshal Clayton McMichael has made up his mind that he will give up his office as United States marshal for the District of Columbia on the last day of this month. He says even if his resignation is not accepted by that date he will give up the office. There seems to be no doubt, however, that Mr. MacMichael will be accommodated. It is thought that he has been informed of the appointment of his successor, to take effect on November 1. The present indications are that Gen. Farnsworth, of Albany, will receive the appointment.

There were fewer visitors at the White House than usual, the heavy rain of the morning keeping many away. Still the number of callers on business was not interfered with in any way. Indeed the number was somewhat larger then ordinary. Among the New Yorkers who saw the president were J. W. Doyle and Clarence Melville Hyde, of New York city, and William L. Briggs of Penn Yan.

As the rain prevented the races from taking place at Ivy City some of the horsemen and followers of the horse took advantage of the occurrence and paid their respects to the president at his afternoon session. Among the number were ex-Senator Pinchback, of Louisiana, and Robert M. Harlan, of Cincinnati. These two are probably the best known colored men in this country, especially in turf circles. It was the first time the president had met Mr. Pinchback. He shook hands very cordially with him, as also with "Bob" Harlan.

For the past week there has been a great run of bridal couples at the White House. There was twenty-six couples. There was a custom at the White House many years ago of presenting to each bride who called on the president a few choice flowers. In reading an old book some years ago the president learned of it for the first time, and he decided to renew it. Orders were given the florist in charge of the conservatory, Mr Pfeil, accordingly. To receive the flowers, however, the brides must inform the president that they are brides. At least that was the old custom. It is not known exactly how the custom will be carried out this time.

Roscoe Conkling.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Mr. William Freeman, messenger in Surrogate Rollins' office, addressed an invitation to ex-Senator Roscoe Conkling to attend a meeting of colored Republicans to be held to-night in Chickering hall. To this invitation Mr. Freeman has received the following very significant reply from Senator Conkling:

"No 2, WALL street,
NEW YORK, Oct. 24, 1885.

"DEAR SIR—Just returned from Hartford, I find your letter of the 12th inst. It is not only a courteous letter pleasant in its assurance that the colored race remembers me and believes me its friend, but it's an admirable letter in its composition also. Its statements are very clear and intelligent. It refers to 'this political campaign' as one 'on which so much depends' and asks me to make an address to a meeting of colored men in regard to it. What it is, depending on the result of the approaching election, supposed to be of interest to the colored people is not mentioned, nor do I know that it refers to. But apart from this I have not, as you may know, for some years engaged in the canvasses which have occurred. My business exacts all my time, and I do not feel called upon this year to take a part in politics. I much appreciate, however, the wish and invitation of colored men to have me speak to them. Did I mean to speak at all in regard to the election, I should not fail to speak to your people; and there may come a time hereafter when I can do so, and shall be pleased to do so. Please convey my thanks to those for whom you write, and say to them I have not grown cold in the things which I believe right and good. I have not died in America.

"Your obedient servant,

"ROSCOE CONKLING."

Mr. Whitney's Warning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The foremen of the various gangs of workmen in the Brooklyn navy yard received a copy of a letter from Secretary Whitney, in which he says that while the efficiency of the yard has been greatly increased since the late reorganization, complaints come to me from time to time of individual cases of foremen which make it proper for me to state more distinctly than I have heretofore done that the law contemplates, I think, that no political consideration should influence the selection of workmen in the navy yards. It is your duty to disregard every consideration except the efficacy of the men as workmen. I shall from time to time investigate the manner in which you conduct yourselves in this regard, and if in any case I shall ascertain that men have been taken into the navy yard who are not competent workmen, for political reasons, I shall consider it sufficient ground for the dismissal of the foreman under whom the men serve, and I shall dismiss him. I do not expect to investigate the politics of men employed, and I am quite aware that whatever you do will probable displease and disappoint. But your deviation from the correct rule will be seen in the employment of inferior men, in constituting an efficient force and in the subordination of the interests of the yards as a workshop to interests of political friends. This can be readily detected by your superiors."

Intimidation.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 24.—The Whig alleges that Senator W. E. Gaines, Republican, while at South Boston for the purpose of conferring with Republican leaders, was locked in a room by four leading Democrats, who threateningly insisted on knowing his errand, and who warned him that if he was to make a speech he would not be permitted to do so, and that if even Mr. Wise should attempt to speak he would be thrown into the river. Senator Gaines replied that his errand was lawful, and he was unarmed and not prepared to fight. He was finally released, but was warned that any attempt to speak would be at his own risk.

Israel Green.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Israel Green, of Mitchal, Dak., who was appointed agent of the Indians of the Sisston agency in that territory, is the lieutenant of marines who led the final assault upon the Lieberton stronghold. After the Harper's ferry episode Mr. Green went on a long cruise and returned to this country to find the civil war under full headway. He entered the Confederate service and at the close of the war went west, settling finally in Dakota.

Secretary Coon.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A Washington special to the Tribune, says: "Assistant Secretary Coon, of the treasury department, has left for the north on a leave of absence for a week on important business. It is understood from his friends here that the business is probably more important to Mr. Coon himself than to anybody else. In other words he has been officially advised that his resignation will soon be asked for, and he is probably looking about to find what he can do in private life."

CHICAGO SHOOTING.

A Private Detective Kills a Well Known Thief.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Henry, alias Eddy Devine, a well known thief, was dangerously shot by Robert Bruce, a private detective. Bruce gave himself up immediately after the shooting. He said that he was passing a lodging house at 183 Washington street, when a woman wearing no clothing but her night dress ran out, screaming "Murder!" He asked her what was the matter, and she replied that a man was killing a woman upstairs.

Bruce says that he went to the second floor and at the head of the stairs met Henry Devine and Eddy Hell, both thieves. Devine struck Bruce in the face, and when the latter attempted to defend himself Devine took a pair of brass knuckles from his pocket and made a move for demonstration, when Bruce fired. The detective is locked up at the Central station. He says he shot to kill and hopes he succeeded.

The house at 183 Washington street is kept by a Mrs. Davis. She and the inmates of the house say that Devine was the lover of Lillie Vale, one of the boarders. He had a fight with her and was beating her when a servant girl ran out and encountered Bruce. Devine was taken into a neighboring saloon when it was found that the ball entered his breast. He was removed to the county hospital by the police.

Bruce is the man who, three years ago, shot and killed Anthony Connolly, a saloonkeeper who kept a tough resort at the corner of Harrison and Fourth avenue. He has enjoyed an unsavory reputation for several years.

A Fertile Brain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—An interview was had with President Day, of the New York base ball club, with regard to a report from Providence to the effect that a new scheme, having for its object the supplanting of the National league and the American association in base ball world, by which it is proposed to secure the co-operation of all the base ball players of note and to guarantee each player $2,000 a season and a percentage of the receipts. Two thousand dollars is the limit any player can receive next season according to the rule passed at the recent conference of managers. That gentleman stated that he had as yet received no notice of such a scheme. Mr. Day characterized it as an idea of a Providence newspaper man and declared that the scheme was impracticable. He expressed the belief that the whole thing would end in smoke.

Dead Fish.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 24.—George McGrew, a big fish raiser of Pulaski, Tenn., lost 7,000 fine German carp, worth $2,000, in a curious way. He has two ponds covering one acre and two acres respectively. Recently he made several large sales of minnows with which to stock new ponds, and was to deliver them immediately. He drew back a seine from these minnows. The upper and larger pond was drained. It contained the large ones and thousands of minnows. After the water ran off these were gathered in baskets and put in boxes supplied with water by a pipe from McGrew's battery. About night the water was cut off for some other purpose for a few minutes, but was not turned on again by some mistake and thousands of the fish died during the night.

The Meadow Massacre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Coroner Hughes began an inquest in the case of the eight victims of the Pennsylvania railroad collision on the Hackensack Meadows. Telegraph operator T. Pratt, through whose carelessness the collision occurred, was present. Howard G. Rhoads, the flagman on the emigrant train, whose duty it was to signal the Pacific express, testified that he went back seventeen or eighteen feet in the rear of his train and stayed there until recalled. Before returning to his train he placed two torpedoes on the track as a danger signal. At the close of his testimony Rhoads was arrested by order of the coroner, who said the evidence was sufficient to show that he did not properly perform his duty.

Western Union Affairs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—At a meeting of directors of the Western Union Telegraph company, Dr. Green was re-elected president, and Gen. Echert general manager. Col. Culver, of Chicago, was elected a vice president and made a member of the executive committee.

Drummed Out.

HALIFAX, Oct. 24.—Last night a sergeant, a corporal and six privates of the Sixty-third regiment, who disgraced that organization by absenting themselves when the militiamen were called out for duty in the Northwest, were publicly drummed out of the regiment.

Lockjaw.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 24.—A peculiar case of death from lockjaw occurred here. Dan B. Harvey, a cooper, while working in Petrola, scalded his feet a few days ago. The injury was not serious, but, taking cold, inflammation set in and he died.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1885.

TOLEDO has struck natural gas, and now has a flow of 100,000 feet daily from one well.

JUDGE BENJAMIN BUCKNER, of Louisville, has declined the Chief Justiceship of New Mexico. He was not an applicant.

THE Government authorities are after the moonshiners in Tennessee. Five hundred of them are on trial at Nashville this week.

BELGIUM has imported four times as much American leaf tobacco this year as she did last. The imports are valued at 2,000,000 francs.

LET'S see. Blaine's plurality in Ohio a year ago was over 30,000. Foraker's, this year, is a little over 15,000. There's food for reflection in this for the contemplative Republican.

THE Privy Council of England has refused to commute Louis Riel, the Canadian insurrectionist's, death sentence to imprisonment for life. Riel will suffer the death penalty for his little, rebelious escapade.

THE Ohio Republicans escaped defeat on their Legislative ticket by the "skin of their teeth," as it were. Their majority on joint ballot has simmered down to three, and there is a probability of its being but one. The Democrats retain control of the Senate by a majority of three. This places Foraker and the Republican House at the mercy of the Democrats. As the Enquirer says, "The Senate will be a Gibraltar against which the authors of reorganization bills may batter out their brains."

THE Commercial-Gazette of Cincinnati called on the people some days ago to boy-cot the Enquirer, by refusing to take it longer. Halstead evidently forgot that that was a game at which two could play. It now transpires that some of the people of Cincinnati have taken the advice, and are engaged in boy-cotting—the Commercial-Gazette. They are the good, honest Republicans, and are throwing their influence and patronage to the Times-Star, one of the respectable journals of Cincinnati. Halstead, angered at this, has gone to blustering, and "doesn't want any more of the Times-Star's impertinence," but that paper takes the matter very coolly and is constrained to remark of its Republican contemporary, that "no paper that is edited in a sewer can speak for the Republican party or for any other party composed of self-respecting men."

THERE is one thing in the result of the election at Cincinnati last week that ought to cause the "colored brother" to pause and ponder. It certainly is most excellent food for reflection, if looked at in its proper light. The Republicans are always professing a great love for the colored voter. That it is a mere profession, and not their true sentiment, has all along been recognized by men of any thought at all. It required no proof for such to discern the falsity of these pretensions. The colored voter, however, has willingly, it seems, remained blinded to the true state of affairs. He has suffered himself, on many and divers occasions, to be made the "cat's paw," which has drawn the "chestnut" out of the "fire" for the white Republican office-seeker. An instance of this may be seen in the result of last week's election in Cincinnati. The Republicans had placed Robert Harlan on their ticket as a candidate for Representative. He was as well qualified for the place as many of his white colleagues. But he was put there to catch the colored vote for his companions on the ticket. The returns from the election indicate, beyond doubt, that he was mercilessly slaughtered in the house of his white friends. He ran all the way from a thousand to two thousand behind the ticket—he was "scraiched," and that, badly. Such, however, is generally the case when the colored voter asks his white Republican friends for political favors.

Mr. Carlisle as Speaker.

There is practically no opposition in the Democratic party to the re-election of Mr. Carlisle as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The reputation he had already made when chosen to that position has been strengthened by his course while occupying it. As a presiding officer he has been singularly impartial, firm and skillful, while he has shown no disposition to use the great powers of his office to influence the current legislation, as Mr. Randall not infrequently did. He has realized as nearly as any man of his party could the idea of the Speaker as an arbiter and regulator, but not, after the appointment of the committees, in any sense an active leader of the House. With very well defined and carefully matured views of his own as to public policy, he left the House during his term of office free to carry out its own purposes, and even its impulses, in such a manner as the members could agree upon. His party could have no safer nor more fit man for the difficult and delicate duties of the Speaker.—[New York Times.

Universalists.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Universalist general convention began its third and last day's session in the church of Our Father, Grand avenue and Lefferts Place, Brooklyn, the Hon. Mr. Joy presiding. The following board of officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Rev. E. C. Sweetzer, D.D., of Philadelphia; vice president, Hon. J. H. Swan, of Chicago; secretary, Rev. G. L. Demorest, D.D., of Manchester, N. H.; treasurer, Stevenson Taylor, of New York; trustees for four years, Hon. J. D. W. Joy, of Massachusetts; Hon. Sydney Perham, of Maine; Rev. H. W. Rugg, of Rhode Island; Rev. W. H. Rider, D.D., of Chicago; E. R. Holden, Esq., of New York; trustees for two years, J. B. Mulligan, of Michigan, preacher of the Occasional sermon next year; Rev. G. T. Flanders, D.D., of Massachusetts. It was decided that the place at which the next meeting of the convention will be held in 1886 will be Akron, O. The proceedings of the convention will close, when a general meeting will be held and addresses delivered by the Rev. S. S. Hebbard, of Wisconsin, and others.

Riel's Case.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The privy council has dismissed the appeal of Louis Riel, the leader of the Half-Breed insurrection in Canada, against the sentence of death passed upon him by the Canada courts. In an interview Mr. Fitzpatrick, Riel's Canadian counsel, said: "It is impossible to pretend that Riel was unfairly tried. Riel commenced the agitation from purely political motives. Many people still consider that he rendered valuable services to the country. Doubtless excitement again induced in Riel mental aberration, rendering him incapable of keeping the rebellion within legal limits. On the scaffold Riel will become a martyr; in prison or in an asylum he would be forgotten."

In the face of the conflicting medical evidence in Riel's case Mr. Fitzpatrick advocated the appointment by the Canadian government of a commission to again examine the prisoner.

Prisoners Caught.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—A Press special from Upper Sandusky states that the authorities there received notice from the marshals of Galion and Lima that they had under surveillance the two robbers who shot Policeman Brant. Officers were at once sent after the culprits and arrived back in the evening. Large crowds of citizens collected in the vicinity of the depot and threats of lynching were freely indulged in. The officers, after a sharp work however, contrived to get the men into the jail unharmed. The men are not positively identified but it is generally believed that they are the guilty parties, as they have both had whiskers shaved off and are otherwise disguised. Officer Brobst is slowly recovering and physicians think that he may get well.

An Oil Boom.

BROWN'S VALLEY, Minn., Oct. 24.—This neighborhood is considerably excited over the discovery of oil eight miles north of here. While digging for water at a depth of eighty-five feet oil in small quantities was found. Reports say that fabulous prices are now being offered for the land. Those who pretend to know say that the oil found proves that the coal beds discovered a few miles east of here extend northward. The conclusive proof of the medical qualities of the water at this place by the analysis and the coal found have brought capitalists here who will fully investigate the oil.

To Be Exhumed.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 24.—Coroner Hollister is not satisfied that the death of Lizzie McCarthy, who died from the effects of an overdose of morphine, was a suicide, and he will exhume the body and hold a post mortem examination. It is stated that Lizzie and her sister Agnes were from Memphis, Tenn. They were left orphans when young, and lost $18,000 worth of property in a law suit. When the suicide of Lizzie occurred, Agnes was sent for, when it was learned that she had disappeared and no trace of her can be found. The matter is causing much talk and excitement.

Riel's Hopes.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—An Ottawa special says: "At a cabinet meeting here it was decided to postpone Riel's execution until November 11." French Canadians still express confidence that he will not be hanged. They base their hope on the recommendation to the mercy of the Regina jury. The Mail says: "The only plea now left to Riel's friends is one of insanity; but as the jury, which is the sole judge of such questions, could not be convinced that Riel did not know he was doing wrong, it follows that the verdict cannot now be challenged on that ground unless new evidence has come to light."

Ohio Returns.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24.—The official vote in Ohio will not be announced for several days. Eight of the eighty-eight counties in the state have been heard from, and in each one of these the Hon. Gibson Atherton, candidate on the Democratic ticket for supreme court judge, runs far behind his ticket, and is defeated by Spear, the Republican candidate, by over 25,000. The cause of Mr. Atherton's running so far behind his ticket, was the report that he had referred to the Catholics in a disrespectful manner.

Ferdinand Ward.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The second day of the trial of Ferdinand Ward was commenced at 11 o'clock before a crowded court room. The prisoner was brought into court by a warden. He appeared cheerful and self-possessed and when the work of selecting a jury was proceeded with he leaned on the table at which his counsel was seated and listened attentively to the questions put to jurors. He suggested points from time to time to his counsel.

Bartley Campbell Buried.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Bartley Campbell's troubles have reached the culminating point and the members of the company now playing in Parquita at the Walnut street theatre have decided to disband and to return to New York. The play has been a failure financially from the start. The members of the company have received no salaries for four weeks and they held a meeting in the green room of the theatre and resolved to disband and return to New York.

Acquitted.

The arguments in the Rogers case, that had been on trial in the Circuit Court since last Tuesday, were completed Friday afternoon about half-past 3 o'clock. The jury retired and after being out about fifteen minutes, reported a verdict acquitting the defendant of the charge. Judging from the opinion of those who heard the evidence, the killing was clearly a case of self-defense. The verdict was expected by a majority of those who had attended the trial.

Gorton's Minstrels.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of September 20th in speaking of the appearance of the above troupe at Robinson's Opera House in that city says:

"The well-selected honses, both afternoon and night, greeted the New Orleans Minstrels at the above house yesterday, and it was a pleasing sight to see the splendid audiences. The quartet is composed of vocalists with cultivated voices, while the comedian is a superb one. The comedians with the company are all of reputation. Mr. Hank Goodman is a funny comedian, and keeps the house in a continual roar. He has been before the public for twenty years. Johnny Stiles, as an eccentric comedian, captured the audience with his funny sayings and actions. Mr. Frank Mack, with his banjo, won lower and applause from the start, and established himself as a favorite from his first entrance. The afterpiece served to bring to a close a good minstrel show."

The above troupe will appear at the Washington Opera House next Thursday.

The Convalescent.

"What is the matter with the patient?" asked a young and illiterate physician. "Why he is convalescent," was the answer of the hospital attendant. "Oh! then," responded the physician, "that's nothing. I can cure convalescence in three hours." Such physicians ought to let people alone and allow them to cure themselves by using Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. F. R. Perryman, Mobile, Alabama, says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for weak back and indigestion, and am now all right."

Notes From Missouri.

The Nodaway Valley is in north-western Missouri, above St. Joseph, and is one of the richest parts of the State. The soil is superior to that of Bates and Vernon Counties, over which there has been such a rage of late. The black, rich soil, from ten to twenty feet deep, and inexhaustible, characterizes parts of Atchison, Nodaway, Holt, Worth, Gentry and DeKalb Counties. Blue grass grows in this region almost as well as in any part of Mason County, Ky., but wheat freezes out, or else becomes too rank in straw. It is the best grass country in Missouri, and from fifty to seventy-five bushels of corn grows on an acre, even this unseasonable year, and farmers ride and plow in cultivating it. This land can be bought for $15 to $30 an acre. Just a few years ago it was $5 an acre in DeKalb County. Water obtained (by boring one to two hundred feet deep) and the introduction of railroads have opened up this country of late. I rode over a good part of Gentry and DeKalb Counties and feasted on the beauties of the rich prairies dotted with short-horn cattle, mules and swine of the most improved kind, (all but the mule; he does not admit of improvement—all of Darwin's evolution doesn't touch him—it's the same mule wherever you find him, only he looks rather small out here). I found Kentuckians, and hence was hospitably treated—the Frank brothers, (my form r friends from Great, Ky.,) a brother of Mr. John Carpenter, of Fleming, John F. Call, now grown very corpulent, a big cattle buyer and shipper. He traced a resemblance between Horace Carr and me and soon we were acquainted. Many were the questions from that old friend the boys who were in Captain Horace Carr's company. I had great pleasure in telling him everything I knew in that line and in hearing from him of the exploits of 1861-5. His home is Union Star, DeKalb Co., where I also found Mr.—— Farrow, from Fleming County, Ky. I had heard of Farrow's Mill all my life, and here I saw the owner of it. He left those parts in 1861, and after the war came to north-west Missouri, where he says he has found the best country on earth, which he would not exchange for Kentucky soil or climate. He knew me when I was ten years old, and before knew my parents and grand-parents. We talked and talked, and Mrs. Farrow helped us. We reviewed Lewis, Fleming and Mason Counties, and enjoyed the remembrance of days ante bellum.

I darted from this to south-west Missouri to attend the State meeting of the Old Christian Church, in Jasper county. This city of about 10,000 population is built upon a rock, and small stones are abundant on the surface. The streets don't get muddy, nor does the country road as in other countries. There to say the grass grows right between these stones—grows high and bends over. The soil is red near the surface and is well adapted to corn (some of the best I've seen this season) and wheat. Building material of the best quality is found near the surface. The rocks removed to form a cellar will make the walls of the foundation of the house. I haven't time now to tell of the extreme south-west.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

CABIN CREEK.

News has reached here that on last Tuesday night, between 8 and 10 o'clock, at the residence of Hank Gilbert, of this neighborhood, Constable Edward Grant shot Perk Gilbert, of the Crooked Creek neighborhood, for complicity in the murder of George Arnold, the circumstances of the case being about as follows: Several of the Gilbert boys and Darnall had been drinking on last Friday night near the Boyd school house which is on the hill nearly opposite Mayshel r, and while there had an altercation. The matter was dropped for the time, but on the way home Darnall was overheard by five of the Gilbert boys, among whom were two of the Gilbert boys, who proceeded to cut, beat and brand him in such a manner that he died on Monday following. Perk Gilbert escaped to a relative in this neighborhood, and was arrested as above stated. Constable Gooding is manifested against the accused parties, probably on account of their having been interested in several such affairs heretofore. Your correspondent is not informed as to who her any in their arrests as was made, but the officers are on the war path and it is highly probable that others will be caught.

Elder T. P. Degman has been holding a protracted meeting at the church at Glenville. Only one addition up to date, but a lively interest is maintained and the house is packed to its utmost capacity. Elder Degman is a minister in the Christian Church, and some of his arguments seem to be "stirring up the animals," for we heard more baptism preaching on the contrary homeward from church than we ever read of in the bible. During these meetings, which are held after night, some of the boys have tried to render themselves ridiculous by firing pistols on the road while the people were returning home. The minister remarked one evening that such parties were cowards and that brave men did not need to carry pistols to church, and as there was a shot fired that night, he proved his assertion by chasing the the valiant lad and treeing him in a shuck of fodder.

John R. Brailey has just erected a new frame building for a saw mill on his stock. He already had two barns, an old mill and a vacant house, but the tobacco crop has crowded his stock out of all these but the cold; therefore the additional building.

Wonderful is its name and great is its magnitude. At a considerable cost, I have procured one of the few Life-size Cameras that are used in the United States. It does away with the rough oil paintings, crayons, and such like that flood the country. Their great accuracy is sure to be like you, and simply as an introduction I will make them at $10 for one portrait; $5 for duplicates. This is a rare opportunity for portraits of your mother and father. Call early and get your life-size portraits made, and in time to come you will not regret it. Any kind of pictures, from the small photos to Life-size, made. Copies enlarged. Frames of all sizes; cost from $1 up, at 27 East Second street, Maysville, Ky.

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently produced by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Boranco's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and affecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Boranco Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by Geo. T. Wood.

CHAMPIONS IN CARROMS

VIGNEAUX AND SEXTON PLAY AT BALK-LINE BILLIARDS.

The French Expert Defeats the Yankee at the New Game After a Hard Struggle. Sexton Wins at Straight Billiards by Very Brilliant Strokes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The guests of Maurice Daly in his assembly billiard rooms on Washington street, Brooklyn, found him a most genial host, who provided them with two games of billiards the equal of which have never been seen. Invitations had been given to some two hundred persons of note in social, political and billiard circles and every invitation was accepted. It was a reception to Maurice Vignaux, the French billiard expert, and the greeting was warm indeed. Among the well known persons present were Hugh McLaughlin, George Furdy, Congressman Felix Campbell, Tom Sidebothan, Excise Commissioners Lauer and Evans, Fire Marshal Thorne, George Lansing, Coroner Menninger, Assemblyman Earle, Denny Short, Billy Sexton, Maurice Daly, Jerry Daly, Charlie Bomeisler, George Bascher, an English bookmaker; A. F. Froescher, Billy Collender, Sam Knight, the originator of the pyramid pool rules; John Manning, the "kid" pool player; Judge Blake, who introduced the billiard players in the balk line tourney; Abe Miller, Professor J. Randolph Heiser, smiling but critical; Charlie Manning, Joe Emerich, the partner of Jake Schaefer, and Mort Humphreys.

Vignaux arrived in the hall at 8 o'clock, and soon after appeared in full evening dress to play Sexton a game of straight billiards of 150 points. The French champion had an advantage until the last inning, when he had 146 points. Sexton then needed 16 points to win the game. He secured them. After a few shots for position he got the ivory spheres on the natural rail and then kept Marker Emrich busy calling the points. When he reached 50, cheers greeted the feat, and when he ran 66 and won the game the applause was deafening. Vignaux had suffered his first defeat of the season. Sexton's high run was 95, Vignaux's was 45. An hour later they met again in the private room where the guests of the evening assembled. The game was the fourteen-inch balk line on a 9x10 table. Neither man showed a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the game, and it became apparent that if Vignaux does not speedily learn more of the game he will be a very poor third to Schaefer and Slosson at the Chicago tourney next month. But he showed surprising ability as a position player, and fairly outplayed Sexton, whose game is any other than balkline. Still "the Comanche" pressed his opponent from first to last and led at times. He had several opportunities to win but overlooked them. For that game Mr. Emerick was referee and Mr. Heiser was scorer. Sexton led with ten well-played carmons and Vignaux followed 27 carefully-made shots. In the third lining Sexton guided the spheres around the rail and in and out of balk until 33 had been added to his string. In the fifth Vigheux secured 47 by careful nurse play and masterly position strokes. In the last inning Sexton needed 29 to go and made but 23. Then Vigneux wanted 16 points and secured them. The following is the score by innings:

Sexton—10, 1, 33, 18, 5, 20, 16, 4, 0, 0, 22, 1, 18, 14, 0, 0, 8, 23—194. Highest run, 33. Average, 10 7-9.

Vignaux—37, 1, 13, 0, 47, 0, 11, 24, 1, 1, 23, 1, 9, 0, 3, 2, 5, 16—260. Highest run, 47. Average, 11 1-9. Referee, Joseph Emerick. Scorer, J. Randolph Heiser.
